- ❑ Brainstorm at least 4 questions in groups of 4.

❑ Listen to the questions in the interview and finish Ex. II on P26.

1. What is your concept of true friendship?
2. Did you usually have a lot of good friends or few close friends?
3. Did you fight often with your close friends?
4. Can you go out of your way to help your friends? make friends
5. If you were someone else, would you like to with yourself?
6. Would you please give a full form for FRIEND?

□ Discuss in pairs the following questions.

What is your concept of true friendship?

What kind of people can be your friends? Please name their top three qualities and give reasons.

If you were someone else, would you like to make friends with yourself? Why?

❑ Listen to the whole interview and note down answers to the six questions in Ex. II.

1. What is your concept of true friendship?
2. Did you usually have a lot of good friends or few close friends?
3. Did you fight often with your close friends? No.
4. Can you go out of your way to help your friends?
5. If you were someone else, would you like to make friends with yourself? Of course yes.
6. Would you please give a full form for FRIEND?

❑ Listen to part of the interview again and finish Ex. III on P26.

 1. What is the interviewee's view on "true friendship"?

True friendship is having faith on someone, respecting the person from the bottom of our heart, and helping the person whenever he or she is in need.

 2. How does the interviewee understand the saying "A friend in need is a friend indeed"?

If we make true friends, we should be good to our friends and help them whenever they are in need.

 3. What does "FRIEND" stand for according to the interviewee?

According to the interviewee, F is for faithful, R for rare diamond, I for inspiring, E for encouraging, N for never apart, and D for darling.

□ Brainstorm the full form of FRIEND in pairs and finish the mind map.

Assignment

Finish the mind map named “My Views on FRIEND” on the worksheet.
More than one explanation is welcomed.
